Tutoring Experience

I've spent over a decade teaching Mathematics to students in both school and private tutoring settings, working primarily with IB students. Throughout my 11 years of experience, I have taught the IB Diploma Programme for Analysis and Approaches (SL and HL) as well as Applications and Interpretations (SL and HL). My students consistently perform well, even those who initially struggle with the subject.

In addition to my work with IB, I have also taught A-Level and IGCSE Maths. My experience working with international students has provided me with insight into how to help learners from diverse backgrounds succeed in their academic goals. Whether it's exam preparation, assignments, or projects, I ensure students are well-prepared and confident to excel.
